Arcbazar, in association with Builtworlds, Autodesk, GreenApple Campus, Forum8, and AIA Chicago, is proud to announce an international ideas competition that may help to shape the legacy of current U.S. president, Barack Obama.

While the Obama Foundation awaits designs from seven selected architecture firms, we were wondering, "What sort of Presidential Center would the people design?"

To find out, we launched an online, interactive, international design competition with the support Builtworlds, STEM advocate and entrepreneur GreenApple Campus, collaborative software provider Autodesk, and 3D modeling and VR specialist Forum8, and AIA Chicago.

HOW TO GET INVOLVED

We are encouraging anyone, regardless of background, experience, or age, to participate through the competition page, which is now live. Although the results are non-binding on the Obama Foundation competition, there nevertheless will be judges, winners, cash prizes and attendant publicity, along with a Competition & Awards Ceremony.

VOTING AND PRIZES

In addition to the judges, the public is encouraged to take part and vote for their favorites all along the way. In total, $10,000 in prizes will be awarded, including $4,200 for the judges' 1st Prize, and $3,000 for the Voters Choice Award. GreenApple Campus and Autodesk also will also present separate, non-monetary Student Awards.

A. Public Votes

All projects will be open to public voting between June 1 – June 15, 2016. Any interested person in the project can vote on the submissions. Registration to vote is free.

B. Digital Jurors
